

Welcome to the Court! Here you can find information about our programs and tours for schools and social sciences classes. You can also find activities and worksheets relating to the Court, Article III of the Constitution, and the Judiciary in general.

This is a new and constantly evolving effort on the part of the Court. Many other organizations have come before us and are doing an incredible job of providing lesson plans, instruction and interactive learning for students of all ages. We have compiled a small directory of local and national organizations providing resources for teachers and students.
